THE MORNING'S NEWS.

WASHINGTON.

The Garfield Memorial.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—The rush for tickets to hear Mr. Blaine tomorrow exceeds anything of the kind ever before known to attendants about the Capital. There are thousands in the city, many from a distance, who are exceeding anxious to attend, but who cannot obtain admission. The galleries will not hold over 1500, and the House, Senate, the invited guests, representatives of the various departments of the government and the diplomatic corps will crowd the floor to its utmost capacity. There is a large delegation from the Ohio legislature, who came without any previous arrangements for tickets and seem to have expected that they would be received merely upon announcing themselves. Up to midnight they have not secured a single ticket. Last night one was advertised to be sold for $25. There is great interest manifested on all sides to hear how Mr. Blaine will treat his subject. He has, so far as known, kept the main points of his address wholly to himself. He has attended personally to mailing the advance copies. The oration contains 10,000 words. It has been so mailed as to reach destinations tomorrow morning. The weather promises to be fine.

Mr. Conkling's Nomination.

The impression among Mr. Conkling's friends here is that, while he may not eventually accept the position on the Supreme Bench, he will, in lieu of the attempts to defeat his prompt confirmation, take no action until the Senate has passed upon his nomination. There seems to be no reason whatever to doubt his confirmation. A number of Democratic Senators have said they intended to vote for him. The speech of Senator Hoar was very decided in opposition, but still not as bitter as it has been described to be in certain quarters. Mr. Crowley has gone home, as is believed, to learn for the President what Mr. Conkling intends to do. There is an intimation here from Senators that there will be no action on the nominations until it is known that Mr. Conkling will accept.

The Treasury Payments.

Unless the Secretary of the Treasury decides to anticipate during the present month the payment of interest on the outstanding 4½ per cent. bonds, and the principal and interest upon the extended bonds embraced in the 107th call, there will be nearly thirty-three millions of dollars to be paid out by the department during the first part of March as follows:—On the first the interest on the 4½ per cent. bonds falls due, which amounts in the aggregate to about $2,800,000. On the fourth there will be $10,000,000 due on account of pensions, and on the 13th the 107th call for $20,000,000 of extended bonds mature.

Notes.

The President Saturday signed the joint resolution appropriating $100,000 for the relief of destitute persons in the district overflowed by the Mississippi river.

The grand jury Saturday returned an indictment against Augustus C. Sofeldo for the murder of his brother, A. M. Sofeldo, Jr., on Feb. 9; also one charging him with assault with intent to kill Clarence M. Barton on the same date.

Hon. A. A. Sargent, nominated Friday as Minister to Germany, called at the White House Saturday afternoon and had a short interview with the President.

The Mason court-martial visited the jail Saturday, took measurements, etc., and closely scrutinized all the surroundings. Guiteau presented them with his autograph and photograph.

Mr. William W. Ker, Special Assistant District Attorney, is busily engaged in the Department of Justice in preparing the indictments in the Star route cases, in which presentments have been made by the grand jury of the district. He has five clerks to assist him in the work. Mr. Ker states that the indictments will be ready in time. It is believed that all the preliminary papers in the cases already considered will be completed by Tuesday.

The Acquittal of Stickney.

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—A Denver despatch says the sympathies of the community are strongly with Stickney, and the announcement of acquittal was received with cheers by the great crowd in the court-room. The prisoner listened to the news quietly, and received the congratulations of hundreds with great emotion. He says he has made no plans for the future, but his friends are ready to do anything in the world for him, so great is the personal magnetism of the man. The witnesses from Harvard College and other points in the east are jubilant tonight, and they will try to induce Stickney to go home with them.

Work on the Panama Canal.

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—The Panama Star and Herald of Feb. 17, received tonight, after referring to the promises of the opening of work on the canal, says:—"Last year M. De Lesseps said excavations would be begun in October, but the year passed and no earth was moved from the line of the canal. On the departure of Mr. Reclus recently from Paris, the western world was informed by cable that on the arrival of that gentleman here, 'the isthmus would be attacked simultaneously at three places.' We were also assured that the plans had been approved, and presumably everything was in readiness for the fulfilment of this emphatic promise; but nearly two months have passed—two months of delightful summer weather—and nothing has been done to verify that assurance. An immense opening has been made in the forest to admit the excavators to their work of cutting the isthmus, but these monsters, which are credited as capable of doing the work of 500 men, are rusting on side tracks, or are not yet put in working order. There are no tracks prepared to carry the excavators to the scene of their labors, and no side tracks to dispose of the earth when cut away by those machines. All this will be the work of months, at the rate at which we are moving, and the next dry season will be upon us, and the great trocha filled up again with undergrowth before any real canal work will be done. At the same time we hear of stations being abandoned and suspension of work at various places, and this at the most propitious season of the year, when twice or thrice the work can be accomplished per man per day as in the wet season. Rather strange this in the light of M. De Lesseps' promises, so frequently made and so often broken, and rather ominous for the fulfilment of his prophecy that the work would be accomplished in four years. At this rate of procedure canal cutting will begin some time, we presume, though no one here can guess when it will be finished."

THE TRIAL OF NIHILISTS.

The Affecting Testimony of a Prisoner.

LONDON, Feb. 25.—A despatch from St. Petersburg, by the way of Berlin, today says:—"During Thursday's proceedings at the trial of the Nihilists several of the prisoners made very full statements, and, in consequence of their admissions, many of the witnesses were excused from further attendance. It appears that Trigoni and only a very slight connection with the proceedings of the Nihilists, being merely aware of their design. Suchanow, during his examination, drew such a vivid picture of the abnormal social conditions that had driven him, an honorable, sensitive man, to a career of crime, that even the judges were deeply affected. Jaltimova acknowledged the truth of the charges brought against her. Jeneeka, who is uneducated, admitted being a terrorist, but was unable to define the aims of that party. Merkuloff continued his endeavors to incriminate his associates. All of the accused declared that they were socialists, and were willing to carry on a peaceful propaganda, but that they had been driven to illegal acts by the government's cruelties. It is believed that judgment will be delivered on Monday, and that 15 of the prisoners will be condemned to death."

The authorities have devised a contrivance by which, in the event of any disturbance arising among the accused at the trial, each of them can be immediately isolated by the elevation of a box-like partition.

Fall of a Five-Story Building.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Feb. 26.—Yesterday morning the five-story brick building on Second street and Christy avenue, occupied by Krafft, Holmes & Co., wholesale grocers, fell in with a terrible crash. No one was injured. Mr. John C. Krafft says his firm was carrying a very low stock. It had $125,000 worth of goods in the building, and about $70,000 worth are buried beneath the ruins, but all is probably not destroyed. The building belongs to the estate of John Wood of Pittsburg. It cost $40,000 and was insured for $20,000. The stock was insured, but Mr. Krafft says the owners of the building will be held responsible for damages. The building was only completed on Jan. 15.

Poisoned by Arsenic.

PROVIDENCE, Feb. 26.—Six inmates of a house of ill-fame on Hicks street were yesterday poisoned by arsenic put in the coffee by the housekeeper, Dora Avery or Higbee, who has escaped. Mrs. Turner, the keeper of the house, and one of the girls remain in a very dangerous condition. The other cases are more hopeful.

Smothered by a Snowslide.

SALT LAKE CITY, Feb. 26.—The family swept off in the Big Cottonwood snowslide have been recovered under forty tons of snow, not frozen, but lying naturally in bed—the husband, wife and infant in one bed, two boys and two girls, the eldest 11 years in another, smothered instantly in their sleep.

The Jeannette Survivors.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 26.—Lieutenant Danenhower, who is still suffering from affection of his eyes, has been forbidden by his physician to start for St. Petersburg until the weather gets warmer. The remainder of the survivors of the Jeannette will therefore start without him.

The Working of the Land Act.

LONDON, Feb. 25.—In the House of Lords, last evening, Lord Salisbury stated that the objects of the committee appointed to inquire into the working of the land act had been misrepresented. He said it would neither try the land commissioners nor seek to repeal the land act. Any change must be in the direction of redressing the wrongs of the landlords rather than diminishing anything which tenants may have acquired by the act.

The Daily News points to the significance of certain remarks of the Marquis of Landsdown, who is no votary of the land act. He pointed out that a committee formed mainly of landlords was not likely to be regarded as a very impartial tribunal to investigate the working of an act devised in the interest of tenants.

The Times says:—"The House of Lords committee cannot possibly arrive to any useful conclusion. It is already hopelessly discredited by the fact that it does not represent the House of Lords, but only a section of it."

The Electrical Exhibition Opened.

The Duke and Duchess of Edinburgh this evening formally opened the Crystal Palace international electrical exhibition. Experts state that this is even more complete than the exhibition recently held at Paris.

Germany and Austria to Strengthen their Fortresses.

The Standard correspondent at Berlin says it is reported that both Germany and Austria have given orders for the strengthening of their eastern fortresses.

Burning of a Cotton Mill.

E. A. Hargreave's cotton mill, at Patricroft, Lancashire, has been destroyed by fire. Loss, £65,000. Five hundred hands are thrown out of employment.

The Russian Vessel Vesta Sunk.

A despatch from Constantinople says the Russian steamer Vesta has been sunk in a collision on the Black sea. It is said that all on board perished. This is possibly the same vessel which Lieut. Boranoff commanded in the Russo-Turkish war.

Rumor of Mr. Gladstone's Resignation.

LONDON, Feb. 26.—The Telegraph publishes the following prominently:—"A belief prevailed in political circles yesterday evening, that owing to the action of the House of Lords concerning an investigation of the land act operations, and the consequent difficulty of continuing the government in Ireland, Mr. Gladstone has determined to resign.

Inquiry into the Land Act.

LONDON, Feb. 27.—Lord Cairns has been appointed chairman of a committee to inquire into the land act in place of the Duke of Somerset, who is unwell.

A COAL MINE EXPLOSION IN NORTHERN HUNGARY.

One Hundred and Fifty Persons Killed.

LONDON, Feb. 26.—A despatch to the Standard from Vienna reports that by an explosion in a coal mine at Dahen in Styria, 150 persons have been killed so far as ascertainable.

THE CHESTER, PA., EXPLOSION.

Another of the Victims Dying.

CHESTER, Pa., Feb. 26.—John Graham, one of the victims of the explosion at Jackson's pyrotechnic works, is in a critical condition, and is not expected to live through the night. Several others of the wounded are not entirely out of danger. Prof. Samuel Jackson and Charles W. Vanhorn, his assistant, who were arrested last week, have been released on bail.

Condensed Telegrams.

Four men were injured by an explosion Saturday afternoon in the foundry connected with Sargent's factory, New Haven, Conn.

Allen Davis is under arrest at Fayetteville, N. C., charged with shooting a colored boy named Allen Merrick. The latter had been missing for several days, and Saturday his body was found in the snow with his head full of buckshot. Davis is highly connected.

Two thousand more Italian emigrants have arrived at Vera Cruz.

Ex-Judge Charles Mason, of Burlington, Ia., died Saturday morning, aged 78.

The United States steamer Yantic, Commander Woodward, sailed from Panama on the 14th inst., for the Central American and Mexican coasts. The Vandalia, Capt. Meade, is now at Aspinwall.

A circular has been issued to the governor of the Mexican states notifying them of the spread of small-pox in the United States, and advising compulsory vaccination and other precautionary measures.

The Globe Yarn Company of Fall River laid the foundation of its mill nine months ago, and today it is turning out goods, and has 8000 of its 32,000 spindles in operation.

A Boston gentleman has offered the St. John's Episcopal society of Fall River $1600 toward the extinguishment of its debt, providing the balance, $2200, is raised by Easter.

The General Assembly of Virginia has elected the five judges of the Supreme Court nominated by the Readjuster caucus.

The cutting of ice has been resumed at many points on the Hudson, and work will be continued night and day as long as possible.

AN ANECDOTE OF MALIBRAN.

The incidents of Malibran's later life are so well known to all who take an interest in musical affairs, that any particular recounting of them would be superfluous here, even irrespective of the limits and the purpose of these articles. There is one story of her, however, which does not appear in her memoirs, and I believe has never been in print. When she was singing at Covent Garden Theatre, in London, the tenor was Templeton, a Scotchman with a beautiful voice and fair vocalization, but dull, without style or expression, and a mere splitstick upon the stage. All at once, Malibran declared she would not sing with Templeton. The manager, supposing that she objected to him as an artist, and knowing her kindness and good-nature, asked her the reason of her decision. After a little hesitation she replied, "Last evening Mr. Templeton was going to kiss me." The manager, who knew Mr. Templeton as well as he knew Malibran, sent for the tenor immediately, and in the presence of the haughtily shrinking prima-donna, told him of her accusation. "Modum Molly Brawn," was the Scotchman's reply,—"Modum Molly Brawn, I wadna kuss ye on ony account." "Molly Brawn" who was then postured by a gilded throng made up of half the male butterflies in London, appreciated the situation instantly, broke into a peal of laughter, and matters were restored to their former condition.—[The Century for March.

PERSONALS.

.....Agricultural Commissioner Loring has gone to Minnesota to lecture.

.....Miss Clara Louise Kellogg has extended her concert engagements to the 1st of May.

.....Miss Annie Louise Cary is now reported as denying any intention of retiring from the stage.

.....Rev. Dr. John Hall has accepted the appointment of Acting Chancellor of the University of New York.

.....Gen. Grant will go to his cottage at Long Branch in June, and President Arthur later, when Congress adjourns.

.....Hon. Levi P. Morton has gone to Nice with his wife who is indisposed. Mrs. Morton will remain there for some weeks.

.....Mrs. Dundas is said to be the leader of society at Nice this winter, and is spoken of as one of the most highly educated women of the day.

.....Whittier is writing much this winter and has made frequent trips to Boston, appearing occasionally at a quiet dinner party, or at a reception.

.....Messrs. Moody and Sankey labored eight weeks in Edinburgh with great success, especially in reaching thousands not in the habit of attending church.

.....Mr. Frank S. Sargent, who succeeded Mr. George Riddleas instructor of elocution at Harvard, will, it is reported, be connected with the management of the Madison Square Theatre, New York, next season.

.....General Joshua L. Chamberlain, President of Bowdoin College, has been tendered the management of one of the largest business enterprises in Florida, and has accepted the offer. He will not sever his connection with the college.

.....The late ex-Governor Samuel Purdy, of California, acquired a national reputation by refusing $500,000 when a member of the State Legislature for his vote, which would have given the waterfront of San Francisco to a corporation.

.....Rev. Dr. Townsend, of Boston, is preaching with much satisfaction to his hearers in the Union Congregational Church, Columbus avenue, in that city, but will not accept a call to the pastorate, though willing to supply the pulpit for six months.

.....The value of the estate of the late W. S. O'Brien, of California, is $10,653,-367, and the executors' commissions amount to $426,274. Of the amount yet to be distributed among the heirs, Mrs. Marie Coleman, O'Brien's sister, will receive $4,000,000, and Mrs. Kate McDonough, another sister, $3,276,000.

.....A very quiet wedding has taken place this week, the daughter of the late Barton Key of Baltimore, and sister of James Barton of the Comley-Barton opera company, to Mr. Frank Potter, who is a brother of the late Clarkson N. Potter. Mr. Frank Potter, who is a thorough musician, formerly wrote critiques of the opera and concerts for the Tribune, and is now, I believe, engaged in the same capacity on the Herald. His brother, Mr. William Potter, formerly supervising architect of the treasury, shares his brother's musical tastes, and is one of the best known amateur singers in New York and Newport.—[N. Y. cor. WONDERFUL INVENTIONS

Of the Nineteenth Century: The Magnetic Telegraph, the Telephone, and the Wonderful

"WILSONIA"

MAGNETIC

CLOTHING!

—AND—

Ladies' Corset.

The telegraph and telephone are wonderful inventions! But are no comparison to the health-giving and life-preserving "WILSONIA." The garments, when worn in sufficient quantities to cover the spine and nerve centres, according to directions, will cure all diseases that are curable. They will cure the worst cases of Catarrh ever known, and there is probably not a case of Paralysis but can be cured, if worn according to directions. All sensible men know that medicine will not cure paralysis, but the MAGNETIC CLOTHING will do it. It will also cure Rheumatism, Asthma, Bronchitis, Inflammation and Bleeding of the Lungs, Heart Disease, Albuminous Urine, Locomotor Ataxia, Gout, Varicose Veins, Congestion of the Kidneys, Spinal diseases, and all kinds of Female Weakness. Also a preventive as well as a cure for Pneumonia, and all contagious diseases, such as Small-pox, Scarlet Fever, Erysipelas, etc. There are now 1,000 people wearing these garments in New York, Brooklyn, Boston and Providence, and there are men of great minds, such as Peter Cooper, Thurlow Weed, Com. Garrison, Gen. Graham, and thousands of others.

There have been scores of these garments sold in this city in the last few weeks, and they are doing wonderful cures. Names and testimonials can be seen at this office.

MR. LILLIBRIDGE,

the agent for the city, was stricken down with paralysis, laid for weeks in St. Luke's Hospital, New York, and the physicians pronounced his case entirely hopeless. Mr. Lillibridge put on the garments the 25th of June, 1881, and is today almost as well as he ever was. Send or call for a circular at the Principal Office for New England.

GOULD & SON.

NEWPORT DAILY NEWS AND THE NEWPORT JOURNAL.

The Newport Daily News is published every afternoon (Sundays excepted), at the News building, 137 Thames street, by Davis & Pitman.

The Newport Journal is published at the same office every Saturday morning and contains a selection of the best matter in the Daily, including editorial discussions of the topics of the week, literary miscellanies and at least one good story, and a complete and comprehensive summary of news,—local and general. The Journal is a large 36 column paper and contains a large amount of reading matter that is valuable to readers in town or country who desire a good Newport paper, but who do not take a daily from the city.

Complaints regarding the irregular or improper delivery of either paper should be sent to the office at once.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES.

The Daily News, $6 per annum, or 12 cents a week payable to carrier.

The Newport Journal will be sent to any address in the United States, postage paid, for $2 a year. A discount of 50 cents is made when the whole year is paid strictly in advance. These terms are invariable.

ADVERTISING RATES.

Ordinary advertisements, $1 a square, for the first insertion, and 25 cents for each continuance. Ten lines, or less, in this type, make a square. Advertisements in reading matter are charged for, at 50 per cent. extra and are subject to editorial revision. A discount on these rates is allowed on all advertisements ordered in the Daily for one week or longer.

Notices of births, marriages and funerals 50 cents each.

Yearly advertisers are limited to their immediate business, are guaranteed but five insertions in a week and are allowed twenty-five changes a year.

The circulations of the News and Journal being necessarily distinct, an advertisement inserted in both papers will reach entirely different sets of readers. As further inducement for advertisers to use both News and Journal, a liberal discount on the combined rates is made.

PRINTING.

The News has four steam presses and is a large and well appointed job printing office. All orders for work in this department will be promptly filled, and at reasonable prices. The patronage of the public is respectfully solicited.

Newport Daily News.

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 27, 1882.

Mr. Longfellow attains his seventy-fifth year today.

New Bedford has just effected a loan of $325,000 at 3½ per cent. The takers are Boston parties.

Denmark is now shipping butter to the United States. Ought not Congress to "protect" the farmers?

Mme. Rudusdorff, the singer and teacher who died in Boston Sunday morning, was the instructor of Emma Thursby and Anna Drasdil.

The outgoing steamers took from New York on Saturday something more than a million dollars in gold, and a half million had preceded these shipments on Wednesday.

Rents of stores and business places in New York city have advanced about twenty per cent. since the revival of business, and still further improvement is expected.

The Herdic coaches have been introduced into New Bedford and are very popular. Our own omnibus company should give Newport the advantages that arise from their use.

Mr. George William Curtis gave his views of civil service reform to the House committee on that subject on Saturday. If Congress goes wrong on the subject now it cannot be from lack of enlightenment.

Congress proposes to appropriate a little more than $27,000,000 for the support of the army the coming year. Half that money expended on schools and for improvements would keep the Indians quiet and that is about all the use we have for an army at present.

The Nihilists have charged General Melikoff, the late Czar's executioner-in-chief, with being one of their number. Melikoff is an Armenian and a soldier whose fortunes hang on the autocracy, and not at all likely to be in sympathy with the movement of the Russian socialists.

"The True Latter Day Saints" throughout the country are participating warmly in the anti-polygamy agitation. On Saturday the saints of the conference comprising Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut met at Dennisport, Mass., and adopted resolutions declaring their sympathy with the movement. They pronounce the Salt Lake church "that pseudo apostate and law-defying institution in Utah."

Mr. Gladstone is going to consult with his supporters concerning the proper action to be taken by the House of Commons in connection with the investigation of the workings of the Land act which the Lords have voted to make. If Mr. Gladstone is wise, he will oppose the making an appropriation to pay the expenses of the Lords' investigation. The Lords are all personally interested in making the act appear to be a failure, and if they want to embark in an enterprise which they think will be for their personal benefit they should be made to pay the cost themselves.

Mr. Charles Francis Adams recommends the appointment by the government of a national railroad commission to consider questions of interstate traffic. He calls for three commissioners, Judge Cooley or a gentleman like him to represent the law, constitutional and municipal, and to frame such federal statutes as may appear wise; Mr. Robert Harris or some one like him to represent the technicalities of the railroad business; and a specialist like General Francis A. Walker to represent the economical and statistical interests of the cases likely to come before the commissioner.

Mr. Hoar has been accused of "pitching into" Mr. Conkling in the executive session last Friday in a very unfriendly way, but the Massachusetts Senator denies that he said all that was attributed to him. Of course Mr. Hoar cannot divulge what he did say in the secret session, but the statement of his views in the Boston Advertiser this morning is probably a pretty accurate repetition of his remarks on that occasion. It is to the effect that he opposes Mr. Conkling's confirmation on public grounds, considering him not a fit man for the place; but he expresses no personal unfriendliness to the ex-Senator. The fact that Mr. Conkling opposed the confirmation of Mr. E. Rockwood Hoar when the latter was nominated for the Supreme Bench has nothing to do with Senator Hoar's position now. He is charged by Senator Logan with "ingratitude" because he opposed Mr. Conkling's nomination after the President had appointed Judge Gray, a Massachusetts man and a personal friend of Mr. Hoar's, to the same bench; but Mr. Hoar thinks that this charge is an apt illustration of what sort of a business men of Mr. Logan's class consider politics to be.

"Purple and Gold," a collection of poems published at the holidays, had a remarkably large sale, and paid vastly better than most original work. This collection made by Miss Kate Sanborn was, as the Springfield Republican very rightly says, one of the devices for making money out of other people's brains that are too fashionable just now. If you want to make money as well as fame, copy off a dozen poems by authors of note, write your name on the title page as "collector," and have them printed. You will be surprised to find how little brain effort on your own part it will require to made this literary venture, and what a deal of advertising you will get. You may even come to consider yourself an author and a poet from the mere association.

THE CHURCH OF THE FUTURE.

The Rev. Mr. Miln, late of Chicago, laid down the platform of his church of the future in the Parker Memorial Hall in Boston last night before a crowded audience. The Bostonians, among other attributes of the Athenians, possess the desire of "hearing some new thing" very strongly indeed, and naturally flocked to the Parker memorial to hear the new apostle of the gospel of Nothing. But in their expectation of hearing a new thing they were certainly disappointed. Mr. Miln's arguments and deductions were as familiar as a thrice-told tale. The assurance with which he brought forward "facts" which were only fancies, was also familiar. He asserted, for instance, the decadence of the church in the face of the statistics which prove its growth. It is known that the proportion of members of evangelical churches to the entire population was greater in 1870 than in 1860, and greater still in 1880 than in 1870. But an agnostic who has made up his mind that the church is declining is not going to be turned from his opinion by the census or anything else. Mr. Miln, having proved the decline of the church from his own assertion, proceeded to seek for causes, and found a potent one in the "smaller number of men entering the Christian ministry." Here, again, the speaker showed his tendency to make facts conform to his opinion instead of basing his opinion on facts. Because a smaller proportion of the graduates at Harvard, Yale and Princeton enter the ministry than entered it in the last century, Mr. Miln jumps to the conclusion that there are now fewer ministers in proportion to population than formerly. We do not believe that this is the case. In the last century there were but three or four colleges in the country; the graduates of those colleges consisted almost wholly of members of the learned professions. They were almost without exception lawyers, doctors or ministers, and the ministers were in a small majority. Now there are four hundred colleges, and members of all professions and branches of business graduate from them. If the proportion of clergymen to the entire population in the last century could be ascertained, it would, we venture to say, be found no higher than it is at the present day. Furthermore, the press in this generation has added greatly to the facilities of the church and of religious organizations for disseminating sermons and all sorts of pious exhortation and admonition. The pulpit may have the ear of the people to an extent quite as full as it had it in the middle of the last century. That this influence is not lost is shown in the universal interest that is taken now in all religious subjects.

Whither Mr. Miln's fancy, to which he trusts himself so wholly, has led him, we may learn from the concluding words of his lecture, which he himself seems to have spoken almost joyfully, but which must seem to the ordinary man, possessing the ordinary feelings, to be the saddest that human speech could utter. After announcing that the church of the future will be grounded wholly on "ethical culture," he announced that the first steps toward the attainment of ideal humanity will be the abandonment of petitional prayer. "Never," said Mr. Miln, "have I been so happy or lived a better life than since I surrendered the semblance of prayer, and indulged in communion with what is best and holiest in my own life." Mr. Miln is satisfied, but to how many will the espousal of the doctrine of the supremacy and holiness of Self bring happiness?

ARMY AND NAVY NOTES.

Lieut. George B. Livingston has been nominated to be a lieutenant commander, Ensign Walter S. Hughes to be a master and Midshipman Harry S. Knapp to be an ensign.

If the resignations of army officers keep coming in during the next few months, in the same ratio as during the past few weeks, there will be no difficulty in the assignment of this year's graduates, with a margin to spare for meritorious non-commissioned officers.

Lieut. T. C. McLean, U. S. N., arrived in Baltimore Feb. 21. He was attached to the Trenton, but detached to represent the Navy Department at Electoral Congress in Paris, and has been on special duty abroad since. Permission has been given Lt. McLean by the British Admiralty to visit the Portsmouth naval torpedo school.

The Despatch, Commander W. B. Bridgman, is surveying Samana Bay. Chief Engineer Manning, attached to the Despatch, in a letter from Samana Bay to the Engineer Department, says that they have been engaged about five weeks in placing signals along the bay, the upper end being pretty well planted with them. He says the base line has been measured and some of the triangulation done, but not a sounding taken. The steamer has made five knots with two furnaces going. Weather squally.

The Enterprise, Commander E. M. Shepard, left Hampton Roads, Feb. 22, for a cruise in the West Indies. She and the Alliance will keep the Despatch supplied with coal.

The Short Line Railroad Company from Baltimore to Annapolis have been endeavoring for some time to get the right of way through what is known as the "farm" or hospital grounds at the Naval Academy, Annapolis, and have proposed the purchase of some part of the naval property. The Secretary of the Navy has appointed a board of officers to consider and report upon the subject. The board is composed of Rear Admiral John S. Worden, Capt. F. M. Ramsay, Superintendent of the Academy, and Commander N. H. Farquhar. The projected road will reduce the time between Baltimore and Annapolis to about 40 or 45 minutes; and will make a corresponding reduction between Annapolis and Washington.

There is a lively fight between the railroad people and the citizens and authorities of New London, Conn., about the proposed construction of a railroad bridge over the Thames below the navy yard. It would compel all Government vessels passing up and down to go through a draw, which would not only be an annoyance, but be attended with danger and cause delay. The location of the great navy yard of the country at New London is in prospect, and it is natural that not only the residents of that place but the Government should object to anything likely to injure its prospects. A board of officers, convened by the Secretary of the Navy, discussed the subject, and reported that the bridge proposed would be detrimental to the navy yard. The board was composed of Rear Admiral John Rodgers and E. T. Nichols and Commodore S. P. Franklin. The advocates of the measure appealed to the Secretary to be allowed a full hearing, and the board was re-convened for that purpose, and representatives of both parties were permitted to appear. It is quite likely that the fight will be transferred to the Legislature of Connecticut.—[Army and Navy Journal.

LOCAL NOTES.

ADVERTISEMENTS NEW TODAY.

Lost—Dog.
Governor—Proclamation.
Carry Brothers—Oranges, &c.
C. Bonning—Sewing Machines.

Mr. and Mrs. William Astor sailed for Europe yesterday.

—The public schools have a vacation of one week, beginning today.

—The police report a good deal of drunkenness on the streets Saturday night.

—The annual meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association will be held on Monday evening next.

—Mrs. Charles L. Anthony, a well-known cottage owner, died very suddenly at her residence in New York on Thursday.

—The Rev. Mr. Locke, rector of St. Michael's Church, Bristol, will preach for Mr. Magill in Kay Chapel on Wednesday evening.

—Bartholomew Curran was arrested Saturday on West Broadway for drunkenness and revelling and was subsequently released upon promising to leave the city.

—The steamer Eolus made another special trip to Wickford yesterday morning to bring to the city Mr. James R. Keene, who had come on from New York. This is the third time this winter that the Eolus has been chartered by Mr. Keene for this purpose.

—The following item is going the rounds of the papers: James R. Keene, whose house at Newport, R. I., was burned last year, is about to build a new one there which is to cost at least $500,000, and will differ in architecture from any style Newport now possesses.

—Officer Clarke and Special Officer Shea were called upon Saturday night to arrest Edward Kelly for drunkenness and revelling on West Broadway. The prisoner, by order of Judge Baker, has been sentenced to ten days' imprisonment in the County Jail and to pay the necessary costs.

—Thomas Malloy was arrested Sunday morning at his residence on Callendar avenue for drunkenness and revelling. The services of Officers Barker, Scott and Davis were called into use for Malloy's benefit. Judge Baker sentenced Malloy to five days' imprisonment in the County Jail and to pay all costs.

—Forty-six years ago last Saturday, John F. Tennant, William C. Tennant and Capt. Thomas E. Ash carted wood from Fort Adams across the harbor on the ice. There being no wood in the city those gentlemen kindly volunteered to cart the wood gratis for the benefit of the poor. Uncle Sam furnished the wood.

—Albert Harman, who deserted from the 4th Artilley band, swindled Commissary Sergeant Zimmerman and several storekeepers in this city to a considerable amount. A large reward is offered for his apprehension, but he has not yet been captured. It is supposed that he is about Boston, Mass.

—Mr. Egbert F. Cleave, of Ohio, will give a free lecture at St. Mary's Church immediately after the service this evening; subject, "The Faith of Our Fathers." Mr. Cleave is a convert to Catholicism and was formerly a Protestant minister. He is well spoken of by the papers of various cities where he has lectured.

—The congregation of Lee Avenue Baptist Church, Brooklyn, of which Rev. N. B. Thompson, formerly of this city, is pastor, have been notified to vacate their building, which has been sold. The society is out of debt, but moneyless. It hopes, however, to raise enough to buy a plot of ground in the neighborhood and erect a new house of worship.

—David Hamilton, the fort keeper employed by the Engineer Department at Fort Adams slipped upon the ice on some stone steps at the Fort yesterday and broke both legs, between the ankle and knee. The Fort surgeon, Dr. Hammond, attended him and reset the broken limbs. It cannot be said for certain whether he can escape amputation. He is suffering fearful pain.

—In the game of polo at the Aborn street rink in Providence, Friday, the Providence club defeated the Newport team 3 to 2. The playing of Ben. Weaver, of the Newport team, was especially fine and he was often applauded. After the match Captain Tillinghast, of the Providence team, gave a supper to the members of the Newport club at Ardoene's. The treatment of the Newport players by the Providence players and audiences has been unexceptionable.

—James W. Gladding is honest in his convictions and will have the sympathy of the public in his effort to stay his appetite for strong drink. A few nights ago he called at the Police Station and told Capt. Hammond that he wanted to be sent to the State Farm where he could have a chance to reform. He had been drinking for some time and did not have the ability to stop. He keenly felt the disgrace in which he found himself and expressed a wish to lead a better life. He is an excellent workman and when sober is a kind husband, an indulgent father and good citizen. Rather than send him out of the city it was suggested that he be sent to the County Jail which was accordingly done in the legal form by Judge Baker, who committed him for ten days.

IDYLS OF THE KING.

MR. SIDNEY WOOLLETT'S SERIES OF FOUR RECITATIONS OF THE IDYLS AT THE CASINO HALL ON MONDAY AND THURSDAY EVENINGS BEGINNING MARCH 6TH.

"How fine the Idyls are, Lord! what a blessed thing it is to read a man who really can write. I thought nothing could be finer than the first poem, till I read the third (Elaine) but when I read the last (Guinevere) it seemed to me to be utterly unapproachable." So wrote Charles Dickens in a letter dated 25th August, 1859, when the four stories in blank verse under the titles "Enid" "Vivien" "Elaine" and "Guinevere" won for Tennyson the applause of the world. These began a series which was continued in "The Holy Grail," "Gareth and Lynette," "Pelleas and Ettarre," "The Last Tournament" and "The Passing of Arthur." The whole epic had been foreshadowed in the prelude to the fragment entitled "Morte d' Arthur," which, after thirty years, found its place in the closing poem of the series, and which upon its first appearance in a volume of his poems in 1842, established the author's rank, as the first of living poets. Two years afterwards he succeeded Wordsworth as laureate, and on the death of Prince Albert in 1861, loyally inscribed the Idyls to his memory, in the most exquisitely touching dedication ever penned, commencing

"His epic, his King Arthur some twelve books."

These to his memory—since he held them dear
Perchance as finding there unconsciously
Some image of himself—I dedicate
I dedicate, I consecrate with tears—
These Idyls.

King Arthur and his glorious company, "The Knights of the Round Table," had fascinated many a poet, but it was left for Tennyson to clothe these fantastic legends with the mantle of chivalry, and from a barbaric source, conceive knighthood as it should be rather than as it was, "but so skilfully wrought by high imaginings, faery spells and medieval splendors, and suffused throughout with the Tennysonian glamour of golden mist, it seems like a chronicle illumined by saintly hands, or like the tapestry-work illustration of a romance scene after scene, with much change of actors and emotions, yet all leading to one solemn and tragic close. For a period of twenty years, during which the separate Idyls appeared from time to time—nave and transept, aisle after aisle—the gothic minster has extended, until with an addition of a cloister here and a chapel yonder the structure stands complete, the greatest narrative poem since Paradise Lost."

The recitals of the Idyls announced by Mr. Woollett, for this city, on the evenings of March 6th, 9th, 13th, 16th, will certainly command the attention of all whose tastes lead them to enjoy the beautiful, and we feel sure that those who can will avail themselves of the opportunity to listen to "Elaine" which will occupy two evenings "a poem which remains for pathetic sweetness and absolute beauty of narrative and rhythm, dearest to the heart of maiden youth and sage," and then to "Guinevere" and "Passing of Arthur." Taine remarks "It seems as if an archaeologist might reproduce all except the grand, but in these two last named Idyls, Tennyson has reproduced all—even the grand."

The petition of the Old Colony Railroad Company for permission to lease the railroad leading from New Bedford to Fall River, having been acted upon favorably by both branches of the Massachusetts Legislature, now awaits the signature of the Governor.

A young man who gives his name as Gottlub, about 18 years of age, a passenger on steamer Newport Friday night, was seized with a fit during the passage. He was taken care of by Capt. Simmons. When he recovered he found that his satchel, containing about $25, had been stolen. He says he is in search of a sister, who is a dressmaker. Capt. Simmons is making inquiries as to where she resides.

PORTSMOUTH.

As Mr. James L. Boyd was stepping from his team in front of Howland's insurance office, Bedford street, Fall River, on Saturday morning, a large mass of snow slipped from the roof of the building and fell on Mr. Boyd, wounding him on the head and leg. The old gentleman was removed to the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. Clark Chace.

CHANNING MEMORIAL CHURCH.

DISCOURSE BY MR. SCHERMERHORN ON CIVIL SERVICE REFORM.

Yesterday Mr. Schermerhorn delivered a discourse on "Civil Service and Other Reforms." He began by stating that "there can be no particular reform without a general reform to precede and prepare for it." In accordance with this theory he considered that the general reforms that must precede Civil Service Reform were:—The abolition of all salaries to sectarian ministers, such as army and navy chaplains and the chaplains of Congress; the prohibition of all pecuniary assistance to any institution of a sectarian character; the taxation of all property except that used for government, humane and reformatory purposes; the entire separation of church and state; and retrenchment in government expenses and a reduction in all government salaries to a sum merely large enough to support a family in comfortable circumstances. The speaker stated that in the magnificent republics of Switzerland and Scandinavia the official salaries were very small, and in France, the salaries of clerks were about $500 a year, a sum on which they were able to support a family comfortably and save something. He compared these low salaried officials with ex-President Hayes who was able to retire from office with upwards of $60,000 saved from his salary. Gen. Grant also had feathered his nest in office and rose from a comparative nobody, when he entered, to a fêted millionaire, whose chief business now is to attend feasts, drive fast horses and pull political wires. In speaking of civil service reform he said England had made some progress in this direction, but for genuine civil service we must look to China, where it had existed for 1900 years. Every officer there was appointed by competitive examination, moral as well as intellectual. The examinations were strictly impartial, and so severe that not more than one out of every ten passed. Persons had studied until they were eighty years trying to pass the examination. In fact China had the ideal civil service reform, and as a consequence had the best governed country, the most peaceful government and the most moral people on the earth.

A TERRIBLE FIGHT.

A MYSTERIOUS ROW ON BRIDGE STREET SUNDAY MORNING.—A BOILER MAKER RECEIVES SHOCKING INJURIES FROM UNKNOWN PARTIES.

A most disgraceful and bloody row occurred early Sunday morning on Bridge street. A boiler maker named Mason, who resides on the corner of Marsh and Washington streets, was one of the victims, his nose being broken and his eyes and face bruised and cut. His whiskers were torn from his face, the flesh being removed in several places. News of the shocking affair spread like wildfire Sunday morning and at least two hundred persons visited the spot where the "battle" took place, a morbid curiosity evidently prompting them to seek to get a sight of the bloody sidewalk.

The fight took place between one and two o'clock Sunday morning on Bridge street, Washington and Second, and it is understood that it originated among workmen who objected because the Old Colony Steamboat Company engaged English boiler-workers, several of whom have recently arrived. Mason, however, refuses to give any particulars of the affray. The other parties engaged in the row were removed to their respective boarding-places and their identity at present is unknown to the general public. It is thought that others were more seriously punished than Mason, who is now in charge of a physician. He admits that he was in the right and in view of this fact it is understood that a warrant will be served upon him for revelling, which move, doubtless, will result in bringing the guilty parties to justice. A more disgraceful event has not occurred in Newport for a long time and for the credit of the city it is to be hoped that the culprits will be brought to justice.

The row occurred at a time when the police officers were either at the police station or engaged in putting out the gas-lights, as no officer was able to reach the spot. Mr. W. A. Barker, who resides on Bridge street, came out of his house and shouted "police" for a "scare," and by this ruse he probably succeeded in saving Mason's life. The neighbors rushed out of their houses and came to the windows, the terrible cries of the parties being heard for a long distance. It will be a long time before the residents of that section of the city will forget this occurrence.

Later.

One account of the affair, which is as well authenticated as anything regarding it can be at this time, is to the effect that Mason and a man named Kelly, together with others, were returning home after a spree, and fell into a dispute about something connected with the affairs of the Land League. Failing to reach an agreement, Mason and Kelly decided to settle the matter by a free fight, and the others made a ring and let them fight. Both were very severely injured, but Mason got the worst of it. It is needless to say that this version of the affair does not make it any the less disgraceful.

Mr. Joseph Murphy, who has played the best engagement of the season at the Windsor Theatre (people having been turned away for want of room at nearly every performance the past week) will appear on the New England circuit during the next four weeks. He has a better company with him this season than he ever brought here before.—[Boston Herald.

Mr. Murphy will play in the Opera House on Tuesday evening of next week for Treasurer Westcott's benefit.

THE OTHER SIDE.

To the Editor of the Daily News:—

In your paper of 25th you say:—"The statement that the people are particularly desirous of electing the superintendent of schools does not seem to be borne out by the local record in the recent elections. The electors show a singular apathy about this office. The vote for four city officers of Newport for the past three years is as follows:—

	1879.	1880.	1881.
For Mayor	1,334	1,695	1,449
For City Marshal	1,187	1,618	1,382
For Street Commissioner	907	674	....
For Supt. of Schools	650	650	533

"In neither year did 29 percent. of the qualified voters cast their ballots for superintendent of schools, while 79 per cent. voted for mayor."

This seems to me to be a very unfair comparison. At the above elections there was a large opposition for mayor and city marshal, while for street commissioner and superintendent of schools there was none, and, of course, not so much need of voting, but if there had been any opposition to Mr. Clarke, you would have seen the vote ascend the scale. Is it consistent for these men who have been elected to the legislature, school committee, or other office of honor or profit, as it may be, by these same electors, to now look down and back on them and say the people are not fit to have this power entrusted? We can govern them better then they can govern themselves. Shall we go back in civilization? No, Mr. Editor, let us go forward; we do not want a Russian government in this country. The men who are pressing this thing ahead dare not leave it to the vote of the people to decide. D. C. D.

The Forest Hill Garden in Fall River, which was fitted up for amusement purposes at a cost of $70,000, is to be sold at auction.

SIX DAYS ADRIFT.

ONE OF THE BAHAMA'S SURVIVORS PICKED UP IN MID-OCEAN ON A RAFT AFTER A LONG FAST.—A STORY OF SUFFERING.

The brig Pearl, with a cargo of sugar from Port au Spain, Trinidad, arrived in New York Thursday, the 23d, bringing one of the three sailors of the steamer Bahama, which was sunk on the 9th instant, when on her way to New York from Porto Rico. The Bahama left Porto Rico on February 4 last for New York, and five days later experienced a heavy squall, with thunder, lightning and cross seas. The next day the storm increased in fury, blowing a hurricane, sweeping the deck of everything movable and throwing the vessel on its beam ends. The steamer shipped a great deal of water, fires were extinguished, and at 4 o'clock in the afternoon of Februrary 10 the vessel, being about to sink, was abandoned by all hands with the exception of three men. The captain's boat, containing seventeen men, capsized. The other boat, containing fifteen men, in command of First Officer Williams, was picked up on the same day by the Anchor line steamer Glenmorag and brought to New York. It was supposed that the twenty others, including the three men who refused to leave the sinking ship, were lost, but the brig which arrived Thursday brought one of them, Napoleon Mathurin, aged twenty-one, a French-Canadian, who was a sailor on the Bahama. He was found on the morning of the 16th, six days after the sinking of the ship, floating on a portion of the deck-house, about five hundred miles from the Island of Bermuda. Mathurin is a stout, broad shouldered, ruddy-faced young man, about five feet six inches high.

To a World reporter he told the following story, after relating the desperate straits to which the crew was reduced by the storm: "After the water got into the cabins the ship was rolling about at the mercy of the waves. The boats were manned when we saw that she was sinking, but Duli, the pantryman, the second cook and myself refused to leave her. The captain in the largest of the two boats pulled away with seventeen men, and the first officer had charge of the other. They urged us to go with them, but both boats being full we refused. The men in the captain's boat bade us good-by and rowed off. His boat seemed like a straw in such waves, and at every stroke of the oars I felt half inclined to call them back. They had not gotten far away when a huge wave upset them, and after a pitiful cry all was still. I felt the vessel sinking rapidly, but held to a hawser on a broken spar awaiting the result. She gradually sunk lower and lower drawing me down by the suction. I thought my time had come. The spar I held floated, and when I came to the surface nothing of the Bahama remained but floating woodwork.

"I was nearly blinded by the waves, but I held to the piece of spar. Rising with the waves I saw Joe Bikner, the ship's porter, on a part of the for'ard deck-house, and swam for him, as it looked big enough for us both, and I could not hold on to my piece it was so small. When I reached Bickner and attempted to get on, he cried out piteously for me to go away. "We both can't live on this," he cried, "get something else, for God's sake." He had hardly uttered the words when a wave swept him off, and between being stunned and exhausted by the swim from the captain's boat when it upset to the ship, he was drowned and I was powerless to save him. The darkness came on and nothing could be seen of the others. There was nothing on the deck-house but myself, and I had nothing to eat but one pilot biscuit, which I had put in my breast. All night long the waves dashed over me, slapping me from one side to the other when I attempted to move. I was lying flat on the boards, and not for a moment could I loosen my grip on the two iron hooks that were on them. No sun rose on the second day and the storm had not abated. I ate the biscuit, which was softened to a pulp, and it made me very thirsty. The day was spent like the night. I kept a lookout for ships, but saw none, and when evening came I was very much discouraged. During the second night I broke off a door that was on the deck-house and put it over me for shelter from the sea. I could not sleep for fear of being washed off. I was in the same position for four days, almost crazy from thirst. On the third day I could not resist the temptation nor anticipate the consequences, but lapped up some salt water that had gathered in the corner of the raft. Of course it made me worse.

"As soon as it was light I began my daily lookout. I had not been looking long before I saw a sail about four miles off coming towards me. I waved my signal and saw the ship slowly approaching. Exhausted from my efforts, I fell down and slept for I guess half an hour. When I awoke the ship was near by. I waved my shirt and saw the crowd at the ship's side wave back. When she came within a ship's length of me a boat was lowered and I was taken on board. I was under the impression until I got in here that I was the only one saved from the Bahama."

Theodore Range, the first mate of the brig Pearl, who rowed out to rescue Mathurin, said yesterday:—"I never seen such a man in my life, sir, as him we took aboard. It was in latitude 32.29 and longitudes 73.10," said he, looking at his log-book, "when we came across him, and for a man that was six days without anything for to eat or even any tobacco was the heartiest ever I seen. He clum up the side of the ship as spry as ye please, and didn't want nothing to eat, but made right for the cook's galley and got away with four cups of coffee. He then went to sleep and didn't wake up for a couple of hours. It was about 8.30 when Theodore Note, the lookout, saw him, and it was lucky he did, 'cause the next night it was very rough and the boards he were on were water-soaked."

CHEAP CIGARS.

An English journal complains that it is almost impossible to obtain a good cigar in London, no matter what price is paid for it. This is true to a great extent in New York. Manufacturers are so dishonest or avaricious that as soon as a brand becomes popular it immediately begins to deteriorate. When it is first introduced it is generally good. Then, when the demand increases, the swindling begins for the big profits. In cigars, as in everything else, honesty is the best policy. The cigarette industry was a flourishing one some years ago; but who smokes a cigarette now except the street Arabs and young men in the first stages of idiocy? The cigarette maker began to fill his wretched little papers with a vile compound composed of cigar stumps and old boots, labelling them "the best Havana." The fraud was detected in a short time and the demand for such filthy rubbish in the shape of cigarettes went into decline. The lesson should not be lost on the cigar makers.—[N. Y. Herald.

There is still living in Prussia a lady who in her youth was on terms of friendly and intimate relationship with Goethe. She is now the Baroness Ulrike von Lewitzoff, her age is nearly ninety, and her home is at the Castle of Toziblitz, in Lobositz, where she lives in great retirement. Her correspondence with the poet is said still to be in existence.

A LIVELY FOOT-RACE.

A Great Walking Match in Progress at New York.

How the Contestants Stand Today.

Scenes and Incidents After the Opening.

Special Despatch to the Daily News.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—A great walking match was commenced at the Madison Square garden at midnight last night. The contestants are Chas. Rowell, John Hughes, Robert Vint, Peter Panchot, Patrick Fitzgerald, John Sullivan, George D. Noremac, W. H. Scott, Frank Hart and George Hazael. By the conditions of the race, in order to win anything a contestant will have to make 525 miles. The articles of agreement declare that the winner shall have the jewelled and gold whip emblem and $8000 of the stakes. The second man to receive $1000 of the stakes. The gate money is to be equitably apportioned.

A large crowd witnessed the start. At the end of the first hour Hughes was leading, and the others followed close after.

At 2.30 Hughes slackened suddenly as if he had caught a pain inside. Rowell and Hazael were ahead in a flash. There was a burst of applause. Hughes hissed. He had scored 20 miles at that moment. The others drew rapidly ahead and passed him on the 22d mile. Rowell leading four feet.

At three o'clock Vint proved the trustworthiness of his physician's certificate by retiring from the race. It cost him $1200 for his three hours.

More than 5000 persons remained in the garden till morning.

At four Hazael stumbled and was passed by Rowell.

The score at 6 o'clock was as follows:—Rowell 46 miles, Hazael 44, Hughes 42, Noremac 40, Fitzgerald 38, Hart 36, Sullivan 36, Scott 33, Panchot 35.

Rowell was on his 50th mile at 6.25, and Hazael 20 minutes later.

FORTY-SEVENTH CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.

House.

Mr. Flower, of New York, presented a resolution, which, he stated, embodied the sentiments of 80,000 working men of New York city, men who at their country's call were first in the field of battle, and who now asked that Congress show a little sympathy to their fellow citizens confined in foreign prisons. The resolution was referred.

Mr. Henderson, of Illinois, asked unanimous consent to have the Senate bill to place U. S. Grant on the retired list taken from the Speaker's table and referred to the committee on military affairs.

Mr. Springer, of Illinois, objected.

Mr. Reed, of Maine, from the committee on rules, reported a resolution for the appointment of a select committee of nine members, to which shall be referred all petitions, bills and resolutions asking for the extension of suffrage of women and the removal of their legal disabilities.

Mr. McMillan, of Tennessee, raised the point of order that under the rules the resolution must lie over one day.

The Speaker overruled the point of order, and the resolution was adopted—yeas, 125; nays, 85.

This was almost a party vote, the only exceptions being Messrs. Beach, Black, Converse, Finley, Harris of New Jersey, Randenbergh, Hutchins, Ladd, Nolan and Stephens, who voted with the Republicans in the affirmative, and Guenther of Wisconsin, Joyce, Thompson, of Iowa, and Young, who voted with the Democrats in the negative.

Mr. Stephens, of Georgia, from the committee on coinage, weights and measures, reported a bill to authorize the coinage of silver dollars and fractions thereof of full standard value on the metric system. Referred to committee of the whole.

Mr. Money, of Missi-sippi, from the committee on postoffices and post roads, reported a bill to provide for an ocean mail service between the United States and foreign ports. Ordered printed and recommitted.

Mr. Smith, of Illinois, from the committee on banking and currency, reported a bill for the retirement of the trade dollar from circulation. Placed on the House calendar.

Mr. Grout, of Vermont, from the committee on territories, reported the bill to establish the territory of North Dakota and providing a temporary government therefor.

The House at 1.25 went into committee of the whole, Mr. Calkins, of Indiana, in the chair, on the postoffice appropriation bill.

Mr. Springer, of Illinois, offered an amendment providing that there shall be no more official stamps printed, but that all correspondence on official business shall be transmitted in penalty envelopes. Adopted.

An amendment was adopted authorizing the Postmaster-General, in the case of a sub-letting of a mail contract on Star routes, to declare the original contract forfeited, and to enter into a contract with the sub-contractor. The bill then passed.

Adjourned.

A SOCIAL REVOLT IN PARIS.

We referred the other day to the publicity which certain members of the so-called American colony at Paris seek in journals like the Gaulois and the Evénement. The series might readily be continued. The names are always the same, the epithets always equally eulogistic. Miss Emmeline van Schaumburg is "Pune des queens of beauty des Etat-Unis;" Miss Walker is "la charmante fille" of Mr. Walker; Mr. Peixotto, United States Consul at Lyons, bases his claims to glory and public attention on the fact that he is "auteur d'une excellente traduction en francais de la 'Vie du President Garfield' du Capitaine Mahon;" Mr. Field, "editeur du New York Evengelist, et sa famille l'une des plus honorablement connue sel places des Etats-Unis."

This is positively silly; words lose all meaning when they are abused in this way. Furthermore the extracts that we make are not simple notes or paragraphs; they are from articles of a column in length in which the doings of the same individuals are recorded with the same monotonous prodigality of adjectives. The American colony in question is, with few exceptions, the handful of men and women who figured under thin disguises in that now-forgotten monument of sickening flattery, "Under the Tricolor," and the principal scene of action where these "jolies femmes et charmantes et piquantes minses" endeavor to persuade themselves that they are giving the tone not only to America but also to Paris, is the "splendide hôtel Mackay," with its "aimable hostesse et sa charmante et gracieuse fille, Miss Mackay." Another brilliant centre of American society in Paris is the "hôtel Hooper," of which the ornaments are Vice Consul General Hooper, Mrs. Hooper, the indefatigable journalist and brilliant novelist—the style of the Gaulois is contagious, we apologize for the intrusion of these epithets which the reputation of both parties concerned renders superfluous—and last, but not least, Miss Hooper. "l'aimable et spirituelle fille du Vice-Consul-General Hooper."

Now, here a problem presents itself to our minds. In order of precedence, as established by the gold-sticks-in-waiting at the most distinguished European courts, would Miss Hooper as aimable and spirituelle take the pas over Miss Mackay, who is only gracieuse or spirituelle, or vice versa? We appeal to a certain member of the American colony who has been presented to Queen Victoria for the solution of this problem. In case he fails we shall be obliged to have recourse to Mr. John Meredith Read, the distinguished diplomatist and dashing general!—oh! that style! we again apologize for the epithets—Mr. Read has, we believe, in his time, done a good deal of hobnobbing with royalty. If these ridiculous "puffs" were published only occasionally or couched in less extravagant terms, we should not perhaps have called attention to them. But since the mutual-admiration society referred to persist in repeating to the readers of the Gaulois and of the Evénement, to say nothing of other Parisian journals, that it represents American society in Paris, we have thought it might interest some of our readers to see how it fulfils its self-imposed duties. Such manifestations of "toplofticness" are rare and curious and for a while amusing.—[Parisian, Jan. 10.

WASHINGTON.

The Garfield Memorial Services at the Capitol Today.

A Great and Brilliant Concourse Present.

The Tenor of Mr. Blaine's Panegyric of the Late President.

Special Despatch to the Daily News.]

The Garfield Memorial Services.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The all-absorbing event today was the Garfield memorial services at the Capitol and the eulogy pronounced by Mr. Blaine. The elite of Washington society attended the services, including, besides the Houses of Congress, the President, the Cabinet, the diplomatic corps, and the judges of the Supreme Court. The Senate, after prayer, came over to the House and took the seats reserved at 12.30. Before the audience had arranged itself the invocation was pronounced by Rev. F. D. Power, Garfield's pastor.

President Davis presented Mr. Blaine, who was in full mourning dress. The oration reviewed Garfield's career from boyhood to Elberon; his origin, trials, grand successes, and unique character in our political history. His belief in the power of principle was extolled and the country's loss by his untimely death lamented.

Mr. Blaine began his address in a voice slightly nervous from emotion but it speedily rose to its accustomed clear, ringing tones. He at once held the audience spell-bound. The address avoided all bitter references and was full as patriotic as the occasion demands.

The trial of Sergeant Mason is progressing at the arsenal. It is thought he will be sentenced to the Fort Leavenworth Military Prison for not less than three years. A strong effort will be made to induce the President to pardon him, which is not likely to be successful.

THE MORMONS BELLIGERENT.

Some Choice Remarks at the Salt Lake Tabernacle Yesterday.

Special Despatch to the Daily News.]

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Feb. 27.—The preaching at the Tabernacle yesterday was belligerent and defiant. President Taylor said the Mormons were extending to other territories. No power on earth or hell could stop them. The government might take away their votes and be damned. They would be damned any way.

THE WALKING MATCH.

Wall Street.

Special Despatch to the Daily News.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—Stocks opened from ¼ to 2 higher. In the early dealings there was a fractional advance and reaction followed by an advance ranging from ¼ to 3⅜. After 11 the market advanced further ½ to 2¼. At noon the market was irregular and fell off ¼ to 1¼.

A negro member of the Virginia Assembly has disturbed the chivalry by introducing a bill making it a certain season of illicit intimacy between the sexes of different races, acknowledged before a witness, a sufficient marriage to control the descent of property. The bill is not likely to go any further, but is a curious evidence of the fact that the former social relations of the races have not entirely disappeared.—[Springfield Republican.

There is a family in Montreal which numbers seven persons, five brothers and two sisters, whose united ages aggregate 638 years, an average of 91 years each. The ages of the men are as follows:—105, 99, 94, 90, and 79. The women are 96 and 76, respectively. Moise Cote, of St. Hilaire, whose age is 99, has 305 direct descendants living in Canada and the United States. All the members of the family are hale and hearty.

AN ACROSTIC.

When an esthetic young lady of town,

Made her way to the shops of renown,
Into Farrow's jewelry store,
Looking his Christmas goods o'er,
There his "too too" low prices she found.
Oh! then she cried, as she dimpled her chin,
Not too fast, Mr. F., but let us begin.

First of all, here are clocks for $1 or more,
And good timekeepers, too, "Are you sure?
Are you sure?"
Reliable watches, stem wind and stem set,
Remember! six dollars, the lowest price yet.
Oh! oh! oh! What forks and spoons, and knives for butter;
Why, such ridiculously low prices are "too utterly utter!"

Only look at these napkin rings going at cost,
Plated and silver, with bead work and frost;
Those are just lovely, "too beautifully too!"
In the light they now flash, they are so bright and so new.
Can you think of such prices for gold bands and rings?
It seems that as presents, all are fond of such things,
And these chains and necklets—do tell me
the price?
Now that will suit Minnie, with locket so nice.

Just look at these charms, these pendants,
these pins,
Enough, Mr. Farrow, my head nearly spins,
With the goods, and the prices, your own
kind attention,
Each impression I now so aesthetically mention,
Leaves but one choice, with those who want to buy,
Each Christmas as it rolls around when time
is on the fly,
Remembrances, and other gifts, "thanks,
thanks, most awfully."

THE RATES OF POSTAGE

First class—All matter containing writing, except as specified below, and all packages so sealed that they can not be opened or examined without destroying the wrapper. Rate, 3 cents for each half ounce or fraction. Postal cards, 1 cent each. Drop letters, that is, for the city or town where mailed, 1 cent for each half ounce.

POSITIVELY CURED BY Benson's Capcine Porous Plasters.
Reasons Why they are Preferred to All Other Porous Plasters or External Remedies:
First.
Because they possess all the merit of the strengthening porous plaster, and contain in addition thereto the newly discovered powerful and active vegetable combination which acts with increased rubefacient, stimulating, sedative and counter irritant effects.
Second.
Because they are a genuine pharmaceutical preparation, and so recognized by the profession.
Third.
Because they are the only plasters that relieve pain at once.
Fourth.
Because they will positively cure diseases which other remedies will not even relieve.
Fifth.
Because over 5000 physicians and druggists have voluntarily testified that they are superior to all other plasters or medicines for external use.
Sixth.
Because the manufacturers have received the only medals ever given for porous plasters.

JAM SATIS.

Not much for sordid golden dross I care,
I wish not much of worldly wealth to hold.
Seek her I love—look on her shining hair—
Is it not wealth of gold?

I am not envious of the diamond's flash;
The wondrous brilliance dazzled not my sight
For her sweet eyes beneath their fringed lash
Make dim the diamond's light.

I care no more for music's dreamy swell;
Nor flute nor viol greatly pleaseth me;
Her speech is softer than a silver bell,
Her laugh is melody.

I leave the wine which once I loved to sip;
Why should I drain the crimson beaker dry
When there is subtle nectar on her lip
That I may drink—and die.
—[George Arnold.

SUNDRIES.

Hard to beat—The drum not yet made.

"My daughter," exclaimed a fashionable mother, "is innocence itself. You can't say anything in her presence that will make her blush."—[Texas Siftings.

A poor discontented Frenchman leaned against his mantel, and philosophized thus:—"They tell me that time is money, but I can't understand it. I am looking about for music scholars, but can find none. I have all my time to myself, but I have no money. On the contrary, if I had scholars I would have plenty of money and no time to myself. It seems to me, therefore, not to have any time is money."

It is wonderful what trouble a change of apparel will create. A fellow, for instance, who has been accustomed to wear a derby hat, thinking the day will be stormy, puts on an old soft hat and starts down town. He meets a young lady whom he is willing to impress with his politeness. One free-hand grab for his hat brim, and he discovers all at once that he has changed tiles, and also that the motion requisite to tip a derby simply pulls a soft hat down in villainous style and combs your hair all the wrong way. And the lady wonders where your politeness is.—[Lowell Citizen.

"Good morning, Fogg," said Brown, briskly, "How did you like the opera last evening?" "Oh-so-so," answered Fogg moodily; "nothing striking about it, excepting the drum-sticks." "Come, come," returned Brown, "be serious. Didn't you think the bravura passage with pizzicato and appogiatura embellishments was lovely?" "Guess I didn't see it," replied Fogg as before; "there was only feathers and flowers on the one in front of me." "What are you talking about, man?" exclaimed Brown. "That girl's hat, of course. Wasn't you?" "Good morning," said Brown, as he turned the corner, his face illuminated with a look of ineffable disgust. [Boston Transcript.

SOME ODDITIES OF COINS.

Numbers of five-franc pieces struck by the Commune have recently appeared in France. When the Federals found their treasury running low and contemplated issuing a silver coinage, it was discovered that all the artisans competent to make dies had left Paris, and Camelinat, then in charge of the Mint, had to make the existing apparatus answer. Accordingly he used the effigy of Napoleon III., but on the reverse turned the bee which is one of the mint-marks into a trident. About 1,200,000 francs' worth of these pieces had been struck off when the Commune fell, and it was thought that most of them had passed into the possession of collectors, but at New Year's time a great many turned up in Paris.

In the World some months ago mention was made of the protest by Mr. A. Macgeorge, in his book on "Flags," against the incorrectness of the Union flag and of the design of the bronze coinage. The heraldic device on Britannia's shield on the reverse side should be the same as that on the flag—the cross of St. George, with the Scottish and Irish saltires, but curiously enough, while the Irish cross was admitted, the cross of St. Andrew was left out. Mr. Macgeorge's protest has been effectual, and all the new pennies, half-pennies and farthings are struck from corrected dies. The mint-mark of the altered issue is "H."

The Prince of Monaco has just struck at the Paris Mint a handsome issue of gold caroluses, reviving apropos of his name the style conferred on the coin by Charles VIII. of France, and familiar to readers of Hugo, who will remember Hernani's sensational scene in the third act.

"Qui veut gagner ici mille carolus d'or?" By issuing these handsome coins, the Prince atones in some respect for the monaco, or big copper piece issued by his august predecessor, Honore V., which the French declined to receive for more than one sou, though it passed current in Monaco for two sous. Its title has been incorporated into the familiar language of our French friends, a "monaco" by extension being an uncurrent coin; to "have the monacos" meaning, as Shakespeare says, to have the "chinks"—otherwise, spons, browns, mopusses or rocks.

Winthrop Wrought-Iron Furnace!
Has been in use for the past seven years, and given entire satisfaction. I offer it to the public as the most desirable furnace on the market. Special attention is called to the new dust-flue damper and revertible flues, that are not found in the other wrought-iron furnaces. The dust-flue damper prevents escape of dust when shaking down; the revertible flues cause the flames to sweep the entire surface of the wrought-iron drum, thereby securing much greater radiation of heat, and consequently a great saving in fuel. Cost less to keep in repair than any other furnaces. Are powerful heaters, with moderate consumption of coal. I have sold over 70 in this city. Sold by

The Salvator for Invalids and the Aged. An Incomparable Aliment for the Growth and Protection of Infants and Children. A Superior Nutritive in Continued Fevers, and a Reliable Remedial Agent in all Diseases of the Stomach and Intestines.

THIS justly celebrated Dietetic Preparation, is, in composition, principally the GLUTEN derived from the WHITE WINTER FLINT WHEAT CEREAL, a solid extract, the invention of an eminent Chemist. It has not only been highly recommended but certified to by a large number of Chemists and Physicians—representing a very high degree of medical science—as the SAFEST, MOST ACCEPTABLE AND RELIABLE FOOD FOR THE GROWTH AND PROTECTION OF INFANTS AND CHILDREN, and for Mothers lacking Sufficient Nourishment for their offspring.

Unlike those preparations made from animal or vinous matter, which are liable to stimulate the brain and irritate the digestive organs, it embraces in its elementary composition—

That which makes strong Bone and Muscle. That which makes good Flesh and Blood. That which is easy of Digestion—never constipating. That which is kind and friendly to the Brain, and that which acts as a preventive of those Intestinal Disorders incidental to childhood.

And, while it would be difficult to conceive of anything in Food or Dessert more Creamy or Delicious, or more Nourishing and Strengthening as an aliment in Fevers, Pulmonary Complaints, Dyspepsia and General Debility, its Rare Medicinal Excellence in all Intestinal Diseases, especially in

Dysentery, Chronic Diarrhœa and Cholera Infantum,
HAS BEEN INCONTESTABLY PROVEN.

THE SURGEON'S KNIFE.
Wonderful Surgical Operation—Removal of Urinary Stones from the Bladder—Successful.
Mr. Simeon Tietsell, of Saugerties, N. Y., had been treated for seven years by various physicians for what they call Stricture of the Uretha, without benefit. He finally consulted Dr. David Kennedy, of Rondout, N. Y., who found his trouble to be Urinary Calculi or Stone in the Bladder. The doctor at once removed the foreign bodies with the knife and then gave him his great Blood Specific, "Favorite Remedy," to prevent their reformation. The entire treatment was eminently successful, and Mr. Tietsell's recovery was rapid and perfect.
While "Favorite Remedy" is a specific in all Kidney and Bladder diseases, it is equally valuable in cases of Billous Disorders, Constipation of the Bowels, and all the class of ills apparently inseparable from the constitutions of women. Try it. Your druggist has it, and its cost is only one dollar a bottle. The lucky man is he who puts this advice in practice. Don't forget the name and address, Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y. The Doctor would have it understood that, while he is engaged in the introduction of his medicine, "Favorite Remedy," he still continues the practice of his profession, but confines himself exclusively to OFFICE practice. He treats all diseases of a chronic character, and performs all the minor and capital operations of surgery. 122-4w

FANCY DRESS PRINTS
The EDDYSTONE PRINT WORKS is one of the largest and most complete establishments in the country.
THE EXPERIENCE OF HALF A CENTURY has enabled them to attain such perfection that they can with confidence ask you to test the quality of their work. They carefully avoid all poisonous drugs, make only fast colors, which are thoroughly washed in hot water and soap, thereby removing anything which would stain underclothing.
Those who buy and wear their prints will, they feel confident, find them superior in durability, artistic style and finish. Be sure and ask for their goods, and see that their marks and tickets are on them.
